Dear Resident and Families,

Although independence has likely felt a little different these past few months - from working from your home office (which, for most of us, really means the dining room table) to having a mask become your new favorite accessory - we take great pride in living in the Land of the Free and look forward to celebrating this unique Independence Day weekend. Red, white, and blue abound in our communities and we have fun activities planned in observance of the Fourth. Virtual fireworks displays and mini pre-sanitized flags are just some of the treats our residents and teams can expect to help commemorate the holiday. We hope you all find a fun and safe way to celebrate as well.

We are grateful to share that these status letters will shift to a monthly status and continue to be available on our website. We are so proud of the strength and resilience that our communities have shown over the past few months, and we want to focus our efforts into our new activities and revitalized way of doing things! We appreciate your understanding and assure you know our teams and the Hive are always available if you have any questions or would like specific updates. If there are any immediate updates or changes, we will communicate them in real time. We remain committed to maintaining all of our COVID protocols from the CDC, state, and local health departments, and we are fully invested in all of our residents and teams. You can find all future letters, as well as previous letters beginning in March, at <http://thrivesl.com/COVID-19>. Also accessible via this link are our Shining the Light on COVID videos featuring our residents, teams, and families, as well as information on our Clear Connection Panels.

While you're checking out our website, be sure to send a Virtual Hug to your loved one as well. You can find the "Send a Virtual Hug 12" button at the top of any Thrive webpage. We have received hundreds of hugs and such positive feedback on this feature that we will continue it for the foreseeable future. We've added the option for you to submit pictures along with your hugs - we have seen some of the cutest puppies and kiddos bringing such great smiles when delivered to our residents!

As we look forward to our newest community, Thrive on Skidaway in Savannah, Georgia, opening at the end of this summer, we are so thrilled to be expanding our Thrive family. We want you to know just how thankful we are to all of you who make Thrive what it is, and we hope you too have a fantastic summer!

Happy 4th of July!

Be well,

Tammy L. Marshall
